

Orthodox Psychotherapy

(The science of the Fathers)

Contents

Translator's Note

Preface to the English edition

Author's Prologue

Introduction

1. Orthodoxy as a therapeutic science

1. What Christianity is
2. Theology as a therapeutic science
3. What therapy is
4. Method of therapy - therapeutic treatment
How then is the soul cured?

2. The Orthodox therapist

1. Prerequisites for the role of priest-therapist
The value of the priesthood
The calling and ordaining of the Apostles
Basic prerequisites for ordination
The three degrees of priesthood
2. Rekindling the spiritual gift
Basic qualities of priest-therapists
3. Spiritual priesthood
4. The search for therapists

3. Orthodox psychotherapy

1. The soul (psyche)
What the soul is
Sickness and dying of the soul
Therapy of the soul
2. Interrelations of soul, nous, heart and mind
Nous and soul
Nous and heart
Nous and mind
Nous and attention
3. Nous, heart and thoughts
  - a) The nous
The natural life of the nous
Sickness of the nous
Curing the nous
  - b) The heart

- What the heart is
- Characterisations of the heart
- Sickness of the heart
- Curing the heart
- c) Reason and thoughts-logismoi
  - i. Reason
  - ii. Thoughts-logismoi
    - What thoughts-logismoi are
    - The cause of thoughts
    - Consequences of thoughts
    - Curing thoughts

4. Orthodox pathology

1. What the passions are
2. Types of passions and their development
3. Cure of the passions
4. Dispassion

5. Hesychia as a method of healing

1. Hesychia (stillness)
2. Hesychasm
3. Anti-hesychasm

6. Orthodox epistemology

1. The three degrees of knowledge according to St Isaac the Syrian
2. Knowledge of God according to St Gregory Palamas

Prayers

Index of names

Index of subjects

Bibliography